Cardboard Stories by Ali Shrago-Spechler

Ali Shrago-Spechler is an artist and educator that loves using interesting materials to create. She makes paintings, sculptural objects, installations and interactive events to create a familiar, yet strange space for her audience. Recently she created an installation completely out of cardboard, in which she recreated what she imagined her great-grandmother's house would have looked like in Germany in 1938. Use Ali's brainstorming sheet to help decide what story you want to tell with cardboard from around your house. Then email us a photo of your creation so we can show the world on Instagram!
